

A Word to the Reader

In our fast-paced and dialectically mixed world problems of humankind are coming into force. Global problems of modern age, vision of future world, harmonization of individual and social life, solution of these and many other problems will be defined by qualities of individual both as subject and object of civilizational and innovation development.

The current crisis is resulting from one-dimensional priority of material values, directives of popular materialism which is generating vision of a human being as employee–manufacture. Techno-humanitarian gap between technology development level and culture is distorting a true human role in evolutionary development of the world. Just the human creativity is the ground of his active participation in development of a new civilization.

It is known that the future is arising from present. And the present is calling for development a new human science. The new science had to be natural and humanitarian synthesis: subject for study – a human being, his research methodology – is taken from the humanities; method – theoretical modelling- is taken from natural sciences. And basics of such synthesis are already created by efforts of domestic and, in some degree, foreign researchers.

Research papers devoted to socio-humanism as the basics of a new civilization will be published in our new magazine.

Problems of humanology will be studied as human phenomena from the new perspective – the system theory of human capital assets.

The range of problems investigating in the magazine is rather completely describes a human being as individual, a member of social medium and suburban resident (biosphere). The range of these problems includes: structural energy and life; humanity; national wealth; human capital assets and life quality; ergodynamic model of a man; energy and time; socio-humanism and human qualification.

All these problems viewed in indissoluble unity with development of market economy and its problems. Place and role of a human being in economy, problems of ecological and economic education, young people learning, generation of ecological sense in the outside world will take the principle place in the magazine. Problems of individual, of his harmonious development, improvement of human capital assets will be the focus of attention of the magazine.
